A Smile

A smile costs nothing but gives much. It enriches those who receive, without making poorer those who give. It takes but a moment, but the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. No one is so rich or mighty that he can be made rich by it. A smile creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in business, and is the countersign of friendship. It brings rest to the weary, cheer to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and is nature's best antidote for trouble. Yet, it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, or stolen, for it is something that is of no value to anyone until it is given away. Some people are too tired to give a smile. Give them one of yours, as no one needs a smile so much as he who has none to give.

In The Caf

The Stern College cafeteria, better known as the "caf" has come to play an important role in our lives. As a source of nutrition, the caf provides our daily supply of yogurt pops, spinach souffle, and sukiyaki. Second only to Bernstein's, Sammy's caf is the most popular hangout for the stern gang. Students find time to socialize at the salad bar, sip their sodas between classes, or even catch up on their french fries.

Sammy Klein, the caf manager, always greets us with a friendly smile. Sammy, Mrs. Klein, Ignatz, Alex and the crew have been here throughout our four years. We've come to cherish their warmth and good humor. The friendships we've made and the delicious food in the cafeteria will always have a special place in our hearts and stomachs.

Making It To The Top

Four years ago we were timid naive freshmen entering the Big City. For many of us it was the first time on our own. College was a frightening prospect, and we didn't know what to anticipate. "Would we adjust to a new environment," "Would we make new friends," "Would we find Barnes & Noble," and most important, "What is Stern College all about."

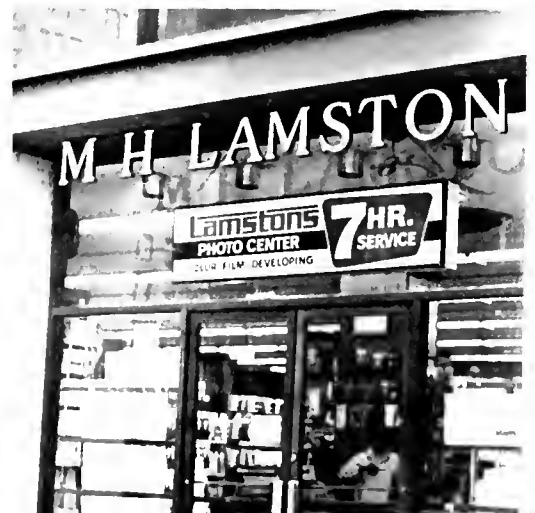

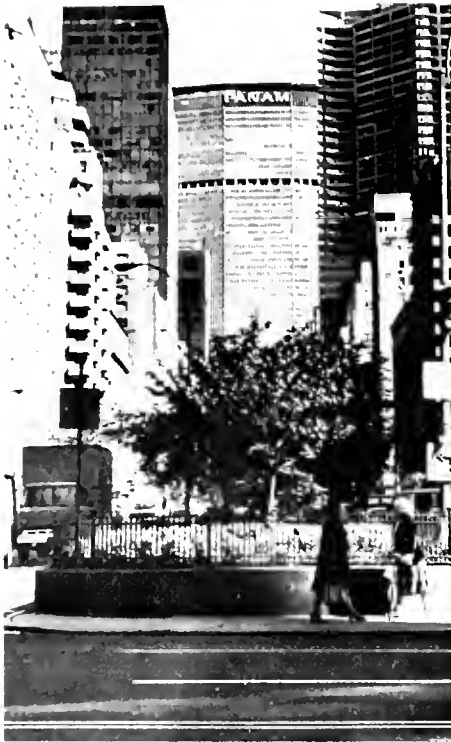

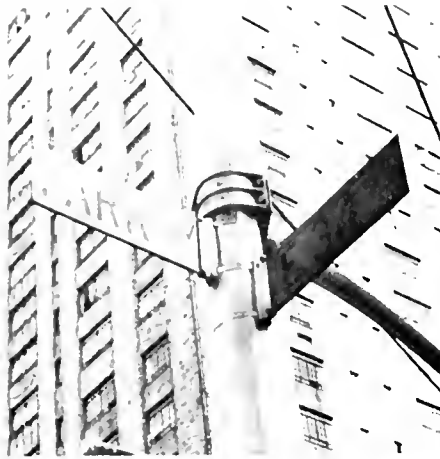

As seniors, we now seem to know all the answers. Dorm life, classes, and 34th street has been a great learning experience. We've had the opportunity to take part in Student Council, Observer, Senate and other committees. One can easily make it to the top in a small school such as ours. We began as followers and today we graduate as future leaders.

Esther Zuroff

For 25 years, SCW has tried to attract and inspire a special type of student-women interested in helping others and concerned with preserving the tenets of Judaism. No one embodies these principles better than Mrs. Esther Zuroff, director of Student Services. Efficiently she solves the problems and untangles the conflicts that arise in the academic and personal strata of our lives. Always ready to listen, she gives sound practical advice and supplies Stern women with everything from job opportunities to opera tickets.

Mrs. Zuroff never forgets that it is the students who are the mainstays of the school and that each is an individual with dreams and ideas worth hearing. She speaks to every student in the school to see how she is adjusting and how her courses are; or just to shmooze. The sunny yellow card in your mailbox spells—SMILE YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND WHO CARES. Mrs. Zuroff helped make our years at Stern special and we dedicate this yearbook to her with thanks and love.

Contributions of appreciated assets held by the donor for more than twelve months (capital gains property) are generally given favorable tax treatment. One such example is common stock, with a sizeable "paper gain" (increase in market price). Here the gift of stock (with certain exceptions and limitations) would be deductible at its fair market value on the date of the gift, with no capital gains tax on the stock having to be paid by the donor. This is vastly preferable to selling the stock thus recognizing a capital gain (a profit) paying the capital gains tax and then making a contribution to charity, such as the right to income or interest in property.

SC MEETING IN ACTION

Student Council Minutes: Wednesday, May 20

At 9:41 P.M. the meeting was called to order. Arlette Loeser, SCW President introduced her board, consisting of Tina Senders, Treasurer, Yocheved Pachino, Corresponding Secretary, Aliza Epstein, Recording Secretary, and Sandy Kahn, the Vice President.

1. Dean Facon and Mrs. Orlian, Asst. Dean, urge that students do not panic about the new requirements. Course Level Designation are available. Submit in writing any problems that you may have.
2. The possibility of a xerox machine was, once again, discussed.
3. Student Council's Meetings are open to all students, including those who have no titles, or position. We hope to publicize the time of future SC meetings as well as the agenda.
4. The successful Millner's Market will be continuing next year in an expanded fashion. We hope to sell YU notebooks, T-shirts, shorts and sweatshirts this fall.
5. Next year students will receive one half credit for Choir.
6. Elie Abadie, a YU student came to speak to (in Hebrew) about EMC's Hebrew publication Ha'Mashkif. A new page for Beginners will be added to the publication which will hopefully be released quarterly next year. Mr. Abadie requested our psychological, financial, and overall support. Anyone interested in writing for Ha'Mashkif please contact Elie at 928-6498, or see Aliza in 6 C.
7. Margot Rosenberg proposed making a new Club called the Service Club. This club would be involved with community outside of Stern. Most of the proposed activities are presently coordinated by the Torah Activities Committee, and will continue to be organized by TAC.
8. We are members of the Simon Wiesenthal Holocaust Center, in Los Angeles.
9. The Student Council has given the Reichs $2000 to fix up the Study Halls in the dorm. In addition we are now holding a raffle. The prize, a $100 AM-FM radio, has been graciously donated to the Student Council by WYNY 97 FM on your radio dial. The portable radio is also a cassette recorder. Please see Amy in 10E if you would like to purchase tickets for this special raffle. They are only 50¢.
10. This Sunday, May 24, at 1:30 Avital Shransky, and Yosef Mendelovich will be leading a rally for Soviet Jewry. The rally will be at the Soviet Mission, at 67th and Lexington. Please see Yael in 3C for more information.
11. Rachel Katz, head of the Student Admissions Committee would like some students to volunteer to speak to prospective students. Since Speech is still a requirement, many of us should be able to help.
12. Tickets are available for the following plays: Scrambled Feet, One Mo' Time, Gemini, Hooch, Furry Me A Little, Next Year In Jerusalem Concert. The latter is a special concert for Israel, and we can get tickets for $12 instead of $15. See Amy in 10E.
13. We hope to publish a list of of the Club Chairwoman.
14. Good luck of Finals! Have a great summer, and see you next year.

Chanuka Chagiga

SOY declared girls would not be invited to their annual Chanuka Chagiga. Therefore, we staged our own celebration. Under the direction of the freshman class, Ruach Revival entertained over 100 girls who showed up to dance and celebrate. There was latkes, brownies, punch and door prizes. It was a well organized event, financially successful and a lot of fun.

The Young and the Religious

A continuing drama about the lives of young Bnei Torah struggling to remain religious in a world blind to the Torah way of life.

"Janet, what should I do? I need your help."

"What's the matter Malkie? I've noticed that something has been bothering you lately."

"Remember that deal I made with my parents? They wanted me to go to seminary but I wanted to go to college and finally they let me go because they trusted me, but they made me promise only to go out for tachlis."

"Yes, I remember. That was really funny."

"Just think, your parents wanted you to go to seminary and mine wouldn't let me go for anything in the world. But I'm in Stern College now, and New York has a nice Jewish community. They offer secular and religious studies—it's the only school that offers such great opportunity. It couldn't be worse—right on 34th street—all the stores—Broadway—Sorry, I almost forgot. You had a problem, so nu. Tell me about it already."

"Well Janet—there's a boy—his name is Yaakov."

"Oh I know what's coming already. Come on, let's hear it. Where did you meet him?"

"Well, you know, I've been taking computers and lately I've been having a real hard time. I shouldn't have taken it, but anyway, after last Tuesday's class I was really lost. I had to ask someone for help. I had to go uptown to use the computer and this real cute guy with a kipah sruga was there so I figured I'd ask him. He really helped me a lot. We got to talking afterwards but he had to go because he had a shiur in the Beis Midrash. Yesterday we happened to meet in Jerusalem II so we ate lunch together. To make a long story short he asked me to go to Bernstein's with him on Motzei Shabbos."

"So what's the problem? That's great! I should have such problems."

But Janet, the promise I made to my parents—I said I'd only go out for tachlis."

"So Malkie, did you specify what the tachlis is?—it's just that everyone has a different tachlis in mind."

"Janet, what's the matter with you?"

"Gosh Malkie! I'm just kidding. But seriously, you never know what could turn out. Do you like him?"

"Oh Janet, that's the problem. We talked for hours and never ran out of things to say. He really understands me."

"And how long have you known him?"

"Two days. But we talked a lot."

"Well I don't want to be your Yeitzer Harah but I really don't see anything wrong with your going out."

"You don't think that I'm getting too involved?"

"Idiot! You haven't even gone out yet. You may not even like him. By the way, does he have any friends for me?"

"Janet, you always make jokes about these kinds of things."

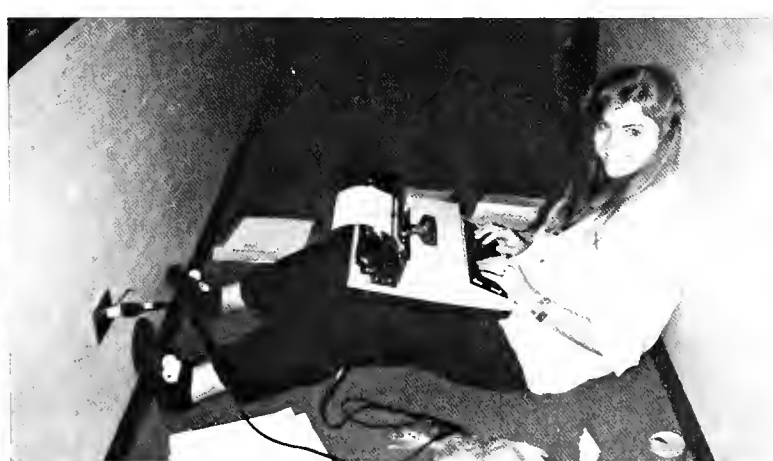

"Who's making jokes? I'm dead serious."

"Look Malkie, don't worry. brng brng"

"Oh it's the phone, hello, what?—7-11 It's 2:00 a.m. O.K. I'll meet you downstairs in the lobby in five minutes

Will Malkie marry Yaakov?

Most important, what Entenmann's will Malkie bring back!

TEN RULES FOR DATING

by Dr. Ruth Eastheimer

1. No physical contact—hold the phone away from your ear as far as possible.
2. Make reasonable demands—dinner, show, movie and a drink.
3. Dress appropriately—jean skirt, oxford shirt, argyle socks, penny loafers and Ralph Lauren.
4. Be tactful—ask him after the first drink how much money he has.
5. If a neb—be gracious when encouraging him to leave.
6. If he calls again pretend you don't know him.
7. If persistent and proposes—consult your roommates.
8. If he calls a third time and happens to propose to your roommate—be weary of his intentions.
9. Take advantage of his indecisiveness.
10. When all else fails—call Dr. Ruth Eastheimer at MU6-5900.

MESSAGE FOR KOCHAVIAH FROM MR. MAX STERN

It is with great pleasure that I extend warmest greetings to the 1982 graduates of Stern College for Women.

Your years at Stern College have been immeasurably fruitful in terms of personal development. Here you have acquired increased understanding of the Judaic heritage, a knowledge of the liberal arts and sciences, and a sensitivity to the processes of responsible citizenship.

Each facet of the College experience has advanced the pursuit of its primary goal; the education of young women imbued with the spiritual values of Judaism and a deep appreciation of the finest in Western culture, who can meet with confidence the challenges of modern life. In this way Stern College plays a key role in strengthening the identity of the American Jewish woman today and for generations to come.

In your various roles in the professions and the community—and as guardians of our Torah traditions—you will find the years spent at Stern College taking on ever greater significance. I have abiding faith that you will utilize your education for continued growth and service, and extend my very best wishes for the future.

Dear Graduates:

The four years you have spent at Stern College have been eventful ones for the University, for Stern, and for yourselves.

The University underwent the greatest crisis in its history and survived it. The College introduced a new core curriculum, a new dress code, and enhanced faculty appointments. As individuals, you no doubt experienced the normal crisis of growth and maturation that are the lot of all intelligent and sensitive people.

It is my hope and prayer that all that we have taught you in the areas of Jewish studies, liberal arts and sciences, and the art of interpersonal relationships—all the pattern of Torah U-mada—will stand you in good stead as you proceed to enter upon careers, build families, make your contributions to the community and, above all, continue uninterrupted the process of gaining maturity and wisdom.

Good luck in all your ways!

When I reflect on the meaning of a Stern College education, I find myself very naturally caught up in the great mission of the University, Torah U'Mada. And, that is right and proper since so much of what we are as a learning and living environment is a reflection of that mission. There is, however, more to the story. Stern College for Women is, after all, a women's college. Almost an anachronism environment that is, for all practical purposes, inseparable from the subject matter being taught. Every course from studio art to physical chemistry, every elected officer from President of Student Council to Observer Editor, every position in the Dramatics Society from lead actor to set builder has been equally available to you. As one might expect, this array of opportunity has created a spirit of challenge and a will to succeed. The class of 1982 leaves this college as a group of high achievers with great expectations.

The Rambam, in reference to Abraham's "trials" in his commentary on Genesis, expounds the belief that man is not tested in order to see if he can measure up, but rather he is tested in order to bring forth potential good into actual good. It is my hope and prayer that the future you face with its many opportunities and "tests" will be occasion to bring forth that good in you and to reaffirm all that you have learned at Stern College.

On behalf of the faculty and staff, I wish you great success, May you go from strength to strength in all your undertakings.

Karen Bacon

Well? 4 years have passed and we're as close as ever. Who would have thought we'd be so close after our first meeting freshman year . . . Just goes to show you never know. I'll never forget the past four years, they've been filled with plenty of memories . . . Take care and remember I love you—no matter what the future brings, or where it takes us.

Dear

Tova ("Toe-Toe", "Fred")

Well, we see that you finally made it. We all had our doubts sometimes, but we always felt you had what it takes to succeed.

From your first words ("It's mine!") to your most frequent ("Aharon, just leave me alone . . ."), you always stayed in there and fought it out. We salute you for getting through the last four years and commend you for having a good time.

Welcome to the real world now, where your education really begins. Hang-in there, you can do it. Just remember, we love you.

Dear Tova

You helped me discover the fun in me I never knew I had. Life is so much more enjoyable when we're together. You give so much of yourself and so unselfishly. I never dreamed I would ever have a friend as genuine as you—someone who knows what I'm thinking (even when I don't)

I love you Tova, and I thank Hashem for bringing us together when he did.

May our next hundred years be as wonderful and as close as the past 4 years have been

Forever
Linda

Dear Emma

You give me encouragement and incentive;
you challenge me, you understand, you give me a shoulder to cry on and an open ear for listening when things are great or rotten. We needed each other our freshman year. We formed an eternal bond then.
Our friendship has always been something very special and meaningful to me.
I'll love you and need you until Y.U.
has coed dorms—in other words Always

My Dearest

Barbara,

One must value each degree which one receives. A Bachelor's is important for it lays a groundwork of knowledge. A Master's is special for it shows you have become an expert in a particular field. But no matter how many degrees you receive in life, there is one degree which you have excelled beyond all expectation. That degree you received last September 7th.

Congratulations!
Love Always, Marty

With great delight and much love,
we congratulate our dear

Dear

Bleemu & Juju

It seems weird to think about not living with either of you next year. I can't begin to tell you how much I will miss you. Thank you both for a wonderful year. There is so much to recall from disco nights in the room to pigging out, to just sitting around and talking all night. I don't feel it necessary to tell you why I love you both so much (I think you know). But I think I'm very lucky to have you two as my best friends! Thank you for always being there. Love Reena (the other roomie)
P.S. Thanks for correcting my spelling errors.

To

R. & G.

August 22nd is only the beginning of the love and happiness you both deserve. Wishing you the best as you share your life and all your dreams.

THANK YOU

To my roommates, Judy and Reena, who were patient with me even if I had to stay up all night because of yearbook.

To Barbara, who let me use her apartment and her talents for yearbook work.

To Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Zuroff, who advised and helped me throughout the year.

To Ed Thornton, who did an excellent job with photography.

To Tom Swift, our yearbook advisor who was always there when I needed him.

To my staff, who worked extra hard all the time.

And to Steve, who almost always was understanding when yearbook took up most of my time.

Sincerely

Bleem Gancz—Editor-in-Chief
